Man Indicted Here On Spying Charge Declares He, Wife, Were Granted Safety

PARIS (AP) — Russian-born George Zlatovski, indicted in New York on a charge of spying for the Soviet Union, declared today France has granted political asylum to him and his wife Jane. A government spokesman denied it.

The spokesman, a Foreign Ministry official, said the question of political asylum would come up only if and when the United States formally asks extradition of the couple.

The United States has not yet presented such a request, though official moves are under way. The case was being discussed in both the U. S. Embassy and the French Foreign Ministry. The question is complicated because extradition also would involve the French Justice and Interior ministries.

Zlatovski, 47, a Russian-born naturalized American who formerly was a lieutenant in U. S. Army intelligence, declared in an interview at his Left Bank apartment: "The French have given us political asylum. We are their guests. We can say nothing which would embarrass our hosts."

He and his 45-year-old wife, indicted by a federal grand jury in New York yesterday, are living in a third-floor apartment over a shop selling abstract paintings.

Neighbors said they have lived very quietly, almost never entertained and did not frequent cafes in the street.

The U. S. government linked the couple to an international spy ring headed by Jack Soble. Soble is currently awaiting sentence in New York as a confessed leader in the spy plot.

U. S. Atty. Paul W. Williams said in New York the French government had been asked to return the Zlatovskis to America "even though the offense may not be deemed extraditable."

Mrs. Zlatovski is a native of San Francisco and was a wartime employee of the Office of Strategic Services.

Appearing nervous and upset, Zlatovski would say little beyond his claim that the French had given him and his wife asylum. "You people have already made up everything you want to, so why should I say anything more?" he told reporters. "I am sorry to be rude, but I wish you would leave me alone."

With that he shut the door.

Trial Lawyers Query Woman About Classes

Candidate for Jury In Contempt Case Of 16 Tennesseans

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Defense attorneys asked searching questions today about the "sociological and political science teachings" at the University of Tennessee in examining a woman candidate for jury in contempt trial of 15 Tennesseans and John Kasper, Northern segregationist.

The 16 are charged with criminal contempt of U. S. District Court as a result of violence at Clinton, Tenn., last fall when Negro students were enrolled in the previously all-white high school.

"Are you familiar with the sociological and political science teachings at the University of Tennessee?" a defense attorney asked Mrs. Walter Buchanan, housewife, a candidate for the jury.

"Her husband is an instructor in engineering drafting at the university."

Mrs. Buchanan said she had not discussed these studies with him, but she said she lived in the same building with the wife of a political science instructor and occasionally had talked with her about the subject.

Defense attorneys rejected Mrs. Buchanan as a juror. They had previously established that she was a college classmate, and a personal friend, of U. S. Dist. Atty John C. Crawford Jr., the government prosecutor in the case.

This was not the first time prospective jurors had been asked about political and social studies in the schools. Yesterday several persons with educational connections also were asked if they attended teachers' conferences or the National Convention of the Parent-Teachers Assn.

A second candidate, Paul F. Holley, 63-year-old Clintonan, also was rejected. He said he believed Kasper was responsible for the racial disturbances at Clinton, and Kasper's lawyer, J. Benjamin Simmons, requested that Holley be excused.

Testifies at Hearing

US Official Sees Gamble In Trade With Red China

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Commerce Weeks said today the Eisenhower administration "will not gamble with national security" by premature removal of this country's total embargo on trade with Communist China.

Weeks told the Senate Commerce Committee the government has intensified its study of East-West trade in view of Britain's decision to relax its controls on exports to Red China. But he said:

"We warn those tempted by the illusion of lucrative trade with Communist China to take a long, hard look before they leap to conclusions."

Weeks testified at the opening of the committee's foreign trade investigation.

He said that although some other countries have announced they will follow England's example, the Western Allies remain united in controlling trade of strategic, war-potential goods.

For those who fear the United States may suffer a trade setback by refusing to ship beyond the Bamboo Curtain, Weeks said:

"The trade statistics of the pre-control period do not bear out... hopes for a substantial market in China."

"It is not at all certain that the trade potential of a new free world with Communist China will be as great as anticipated by some—in view of the uncertainties of politically motivated and state-controlled trade with totalitarian countries."

"It is the foreign policy of this government to maintain its own total embargo because the Communist China regime continues to constitute a serious threat to the security of the Far East, which directly affects the security of the United States."

Weeks said American foreign commerce has increased more swiftly and substantially during the Eisenhower administration than in any peacetime period.

"The administration and the Congress can take pride in this unprecedented trade of goods and services which is one of the important factors in maintaining record prosperity and in waging peace," Weeks said.

U. S. exports were $17,300,000,000 last year, compared with $12,300,000,000 in 1953, Weeks reported. Imports increased in the same period from $10,900,000,000 to $12,600,000, he added.

Foreign markets now absorb 9 per cent of the country's total output of transportable goods, he said.

Governor Blair Signs Speeds Law, Vetoes Milk Price Bill

May Be Hard to Enforce

Officials Are Worried Over New Speed Law

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Chagrined was the first reaction today of some Missourians who will have to notify the public of the state's new highway speed limit law and try to enforce it.

In the first place the new law effective Aug. 29, has been criticized as intricate and confusing. On divided federally marked highways (the ones with the shield shaped signs) the day and night speed maximum is 70 miles an hour.

On other federal highways and on state routes, (the latter with the state map shaped signs, the daytime top is 70 miles an hour but at night the maximum is 65.

On other routes the daytime top is 65 and the night time limit is 60.

Through unincorporated villages where no lesser limit is posted the top speed is 45 miles an hour.

And if a slow moving driver refuses an officer's request to pull over until jammed up traffic is cleared, he can be charged with a law violation.

State Highway Patrol officers say that's going to be tough to enforce. One said sadly he had hoped the governor would veto it.

Patrol officials have pressed for a state speed limit law for several years but some looked askance at the new law that carries so many different legal speeds.

On top of that, the patrol said repeatedly a speed law would mean additional troopers would be needed to enforce it. The governor approved a bill yesterday giving the patrol an increase from 355 to 455 uniformed officers and men.

That would be enough for a year or so, but the trouble is the Legislature failed to appropriate the money for the additional manpower. The appropriation for that was in a catchall money bill which was caught in the confusion of the legislative windup May 31 and died.

Also in the catchall bill was the money for patrol radar equipment, to simplify speed checks and make the evidence legal proof of violations.

The only apparent way to surmount that obstacle would be for the governor to increase the patrol financing allotments for the next six months and then ask the 1958 special legislative session for an emergency appropriation to make up the shortage.

Then there's the mechanical task of putting up the necessary speed limit signs. That had Leon Corder of the Highway Department scratching his head today.

He said he had some sample signs made up but they haven't been given final approval yet. Besides, he said, Missouri's curving, hilly highways won't permit anywhere near the legal top speeds in some sections.

He said he was more interested in telling drivers what the safe speeds are in some congested areas or on crooked stretches than in telling them the maximum legal speed.

With the highway commission's approval, he wants to post the legal speeds at the state's borders and at the edge of cities and towns—to replace the present "resume speed" signs. But he also wants to continue the present speed signs which tell the motorist the approximate safe speed rather than the legal maximum.

Battle Over Ward Heir Estate Ends

CHICAGO (AP) — A three-year court battle over the $2,302,630 estate of Montgomery Ward Thorne has been formally ended.

Terms signed yesterday by Circuit Judge Charles S. Dougherty deducted $642,719 from the estate to effect a settlement, with the balance going to Mrs. Marion Thorne, mother of Montgomery Ward Thorne who died June 19, 1954.

Thorne's fiancée, Maurren Ragen, and her mother, Mrs. Alene Ragen, were awarded a total of $242,150. His aunt, Mrs. Carol Lind, received $52,189. The other $348,389 was assigned to pay attorneys fees and other costs of the litigation.

Involved in the estate fight were two wills, one drawn in 1951 which left all of his property to his mother, and a later document, signed nine days before his death, under which the Ragens were named beneficiaries to three-fourths of the estate.

Mrs. Thorne had attacked validity of the 1954 will, charging the Ragens had used undue influence on her 20-year-old son to bring about revision of his will, cutting his mother's share to one eighth.

The settlement was a compromise under which terms of the earlier will apply, except for the awards to the Ragens and Mrs. Lind.

Says Speed Law Not Ideal But Step in Right Direction

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Gov. James T. Blair signed a controversial speed limit bill today but vetoed a milk price control bill that caused a bitter fight in the Legislature.

The speed law, with a top of 70 miles an hour on divided highways and on federal highways in the daytime, will give Missouri fixed speed limits for the first time when it goes into effect Aug. 29.

"While this is not an ideal bill for several reasons, which are apparent," the governor said in reporting his actions, "I have approved it because I believe it to be at least a first step in the right direction."

Under the schedule of speed limits, 65 miles an hour will be the top on non-federal roads in the daytime and on federal roads, except divided lane routes, at night. On any other roads the night time maximum will be 60 miles an hour.

In towns where no limit is posted the top will be 45 miles and it will be a misdemeanor to drive so slowly as to impede traffic. The act expires Sept. 1, 1961.

Action on the bills reported today completed the governor's work on the 327 bills sent to him by the 1957 Legislature. He had until next Monday to finish them but held up in a Kansas City hotel room and worked over the Fourth of July holiday to get the job done.

In vetoing the milk price control bill, Blair used some of the strongest language he has employed on any legislative problem since becoming governor.

He noted that the General Assembly for years has consistently refused to enact "fair trade" laws or other price control legislation designed to stifle free competition.

"Our General Assembly has stood firmly in favor of our system of free and healthy competition," he said, "and our citizens have benefited thereby."

Even though he regarded the bill as a reversal of this policy and "a step in the wrong direction," the governor said he might have felt impelled to sign it because it was approved by the elected representatives of the people. But he could not because "this bill appears to me to be seriously defective."

Blair noted that one major purpose of the bill would be to make it prima facie evidence of intent to violate the law if a milk seller sold his product for less than the costs of other sellers within a 30-mile radius.

Legislative sponsors of the measure said this was intended to prevent price cutting tactics of large metropolitan dairies from destroying small outstate dairies.

Blair noted, however, that the effect would be to make an economical operator subject to criminal prosecution and injunctive action "merely upon a showing that he was selling milk at less than the costs of the high cost operators, without regard for the actual costs of the economical operator."

Red Leaders Pay Visit To Satellite

Czech Officials Hail Kremlin Chiefs On Frontier Arrival

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev and Soviet Premier Bulganin arrived in Czechoslovakia today to receive new pledges of loyalty in the wake of the sweeping Kremlin shakeup.

As 15,000 cheered, Czechoslovak Communist party chief Antonin Novotny and lesser officials embraced and kissed the beaming Soviet leaders on their arrival by train at the frontier station of Cerna.

Novotny, considered by many one of Joseph Stalin's more faithful disciples, paid special tribute to Khrushchev's program to expand Soviet agriculture, which V. M. Molotov and the other purged Kremlin leaders were accused of opposing.

"We especially hail the results of the creative policies of the Soviet Communist party which has brought progress to your country, advances in industry and agriculture and the great prospects that the Soviet Union will surpass the United States in per capita production of meat, butter and milk," Novotny said.

"The joint talks we will have will have great significance for the security of our Czechoslovak Republic and a tightening and expansion of our economic cooperation with the Soviet Union."

"You visit us at a time when the German militarists and renegees are again raising their heads on our western frontiers. But the Czechoslovak people know that close friendship and alliance with the Soviet Union is the chief protection for their national freedom and independence."

Taking the spotlight as usual, Khrushchev said his group had "not come to discuss disputes or to clear away misunderstandings."

80-Year-Old Carpenter Expects to Live Forever

By HAL BOYLE
ALCOA, Tenn. (P)—William Andrew Nicholson is an 80-year-old carpenter who built an everlasting home because he confidently expects to live forever.

It is a fortress-like stone dwelling of 14 rooms and was built by Nicholson and his wife over an 8-year period. It is known locally as "Millenium Manor," and "The house that faith built."

"It cannot rust nor rot," said Nicholson, whose keen blue eyes and white hair make him look like a patriarch in a striped sport shirt, "and if nothing wrecks it there is no reason why it shouldn't last a million years."

Nicholson himself is serenely certain that a million years from now he will be happy, alive and content with his house and lot. His reason is simple. He loves Jesus Christ, and he accepts as a statement of literal fact that Biblical promise that whosoever loves Christ will have everlasting life.

"I believe in the Bible, and I believe in life," he said. "I believe in preparing to live instead of preparing to die."

So it was that in 1933 the kindly carpenter and his wife, who had borne him 10 children, began at the age of 61 to build an eternal shelter for an eternal life on earth.

There was to go into it nothing but cement, rock and Tennessee pink marble.

Nicholson worked eight hours a day at his trade, then worked six to eight hours more on his home. He pushed 300-pound marble stones to their place in a wheelbarrow. His wife poured the mortar.

The house, completed in December, 1946, is two stories tall. Its outside walls are from two to three feet thick. It has two bathrooms furnished with huge stone and cement chairs. The roof alone contains 432 tons of rock.

Six years ago Mrs. Nicholson died of cancer, leaving her husband lonely but still sure he himself will enjoy eternal life.

"It was hard to be parted from her after so many years," he said. "My wife believed in me, but her faith in eternal life was weak. She tried to believe, but she had her doubts. There came times when she talked of dying."

Nicholson's unusual home has become something of a tourist attraction. He says he has been offered $150,000 for it, but has no intention of selling.

"What would I want with the money?" he asked. "I have everything I need."

"I haven't been sick for 40 years. I don't worry about the atomic bomb—or anything else. I let nothing bother me."

"I keep healthy by serving God the best I know how. I don't go to church, but got out. They didn't like my views."

One of Nicholson's views that have led some of his neighbors to regard him as eccentric is his conviction that the world will be destroyed soon—probably by 1959—but that 144,000 righteous, including himself, will be saved.

Nicholson himself doesn't mind what his neighbors think, or anyone else for that matter.

However long he lives himself, the rugged, picturesque home he built stands as a temple of love—a poor man's pyramid—the testimony in stone of a mighty faith that stirred a simple heart to a dream of timeless grandeur.

Youth Studies Religion In Hungary

BUDAPEST (P)—Thousands of Communist Hungary's children have registered for regular school classes in religion, including many whose parents did not dare tell them apply before last fall's revolt.

The regime of Premier Janos Kadar, like all Communist regimes, is antireligious in principle. But in Hungary, as in Poland, the Communists and churches seem to be finding ways to get along.

In Hungary a decree was issued that the registration should be neither encouraged nor hindered. As in the past, two 30-minute classes are to be given weekly, either before or after regular school hours. Priests, pastors and rabbis do the teaching in the classrooms and are paid for it by the state.

Accompanied by a government representative, I visited three Budapest schools last week. In each I was told that registration for the classes in religion was three times what it was last July. A big majority of the children registered were Roman Catholic, as is well over half the country's population.

The Education Ministry said it had no over-all registration figures for this year yet, and it would not make last year's figures available.

One of the schools visited was in a middleclass district in Budu. Another serves a poorer section near Uelloei Street, where the heaviest fighting occurred last fall. The third was in a factory workers' suburb, Angyalfoeld.

All three schools had registration notices posted on the doors, ample space for the registration work and plenty of volunteer teachers to help.

Principal Miklos Tavaszi at the Krisztina Square school in Budapest explained that a year ago representatives of Communist women's organizations were present and discouraged mothers from registering their children. This was not happening now, he said. He predicted that, as a result, more than 200 of his 336 pupils would register, instead of the 66 who did so last year.

When the schools first reopened in January after the fighting, children were allowed for a while to attend without registering. At the Angyalfoeld school, 300 joined the classes instead of the mere 30 on the lists. The woman principal explained with a smile:

"The political situation in January was not yet clear."

Couple Weds At Whiteman Base Chapel

At two o'clock Sunday afternoon, June 9 Doris Mae Firman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Reynolds, 255 East Jackson, exchanged marriage vows with Randy H. Cole, Whiteman AFB, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Cole, Leighton, Pa., at Whiteman Base Chapel. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Campbell. The altar was adorned with bouquets of mixed flowers centering a pair of silver candelabra.

Given in marriage by her brother, Frankie Reynolds, the bride wore a floor length gown of Chantilly lace net and bridal satin. The molded lace bodice was fashioned with a high neckline of net accented by a lace collar and ruffles. The long sleeves tapered to points over the hands. The bouffant skirt of alternating ruffles of lace and net was worn over hoops. Her fingertip length veil of illusion fell from a lace coronet. She carried a white Bible adorned with two orchids surrounded by stephanotis. Her only jewelry was a string of pearls.

Her only attendant, Miss Carol Salmon, wore a white ballerina length gown of net over satin, trimmed with floral decorations of black velvet. She wore a hat of net and pearls and carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses.

John Albright, Whiteman AFB, served as best man.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Reynolds wore a black lace dress with white accessories and deep yellow carnation corsage.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the newlywed's apartment. The lace covered table was centered with silver candelabra. The three tier wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Miss Barbara Loveland and Miss Carol Salmon served the cake and punch.

They left for Leighton, Pa. following the reception. For traveling, the bride wore a lilac suit, black accessories and the orchids from her bouquet.

The bride graduated from Smith-Cotton High School and is employed by Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

The groom graduated from the Stephen Palmer High School in Palmerton, Pa. and is now serving with the Air Force.

They are residing at 1603 South Moniteau and after the groom is released from service will make their home in Pennsylvania.

Heat Wave's Death Toll Rises to 288

ROME (AP)—The death toll of one of Europe's worst July heat waves rose today to at least 288, including 52 enfeebled inmates in Italy's crowded homes for the aged.

Showers appeared to have broken the nine-day torrid wave across northern Europe. But throughout scorched central Europe and down the sun-blasted Italian peninsula deaths rocketed, and there was no relief in sight.

A week of 100-degree temperatures had taken at least 96 lives in Italy.

West Germany had at least 68 dead, 50 of them from drowning. Temperatures there were slipping back to the middle 80s, however. Water shortages and danger of infection caused some communities to close public swimming pools.

Austria, still in the grip of the worst heat wave since 1873, counted 35 dead. The engineer of a local train near Wiener Neustadt collapsed and fell from his cab. The train ran with no one at the controls until a fireman noted what had happened and pulled an emergency brake.

The Netherlands had 29 drownings but temperatures had dropped into the 70s. France had 25 deaths and Belgium 12.

The heat wave appeared ended for Britain, with cool winds and some rain. The death toll there was five. Switzerland reported 13 dead and Norway five.

Stockholm was under a drizzle of cool rain with temperatures down to 59 degrees.

New Medium Jet Bomber Is Seen Over Moscow

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times said today a new speedy medium jet bomber with sharply swept-back wings has been spotted over Moscow recently.

Hanson W. Baldwin, Times military editor, said the bomber and several other new Russian planes were seen during rehearsals for Soviet Air Force Day. The aerial display was scheduled for late June but was canceled at the last minute, ostensibly because bad weather was predicted.

Sources in Washington, Baldwin said, described the mystery bomber as a much improved Badger class plane roughly comparable to the U. S. Boeing B-47. The report gave this description: The bomber is of radical design. It is roughly 106 feet long, about the length of the TU-16, which the Soviets have used in their long-range forces for years, but the wing span is believed to be about 25 feet shorter than the Badger's 100 feet.

The bomber appeared to have four jet engines, mounted in pairs in an over-and-under configuration in the wing roots on each side of the fuselage.

Rescue Injured Hiker From Mountain Ledge In California Park

SEQUOIA-KINGS CANYON NATIONAL PARK, Calif. (AP)—John F. Scott, injured while hiking, was rescued from a 13,000-foot mountain ledge last night.

The 23-year-old graduate student at the University of California had been trapped on the ledge for more than 24 hours while a hastily formed rescue party beat its way by horse and on foot into the rugged North Palisade country of the High Sierra.

Scott was hiking with companions when he slipped and fell 40 feet onto the ledge, injuring both ankles and an arm.

One companion spent the night with him while others went for help.

A searching party formed in Bishop, Calif., spent yesterday getting to the injured man.

Scott's injuries included a fractured left ankle and right wrist, possible fractured ribs and internal injuries, shock and exposure.

Daily Worker Okays Shakeup In Soviet

NEW YORK (AP)—The Daily Worker, American Communist newspaper, voiced approval today of the recent shakeup in Soviet leadership.

Commenting editorially for the first time on the latest Moscow purge, the Worker said the outcome showed a Soviet dedication to the policies of peaceful coexistence and a relaxation of tensions.

The newspaper applauded the debate within the Communist party's Central Committee on the issues posed by the conflict. But the editorial suggested that "matters might not have even come to this pass" had there been public discussion of the issues.

Supreme Court Weighs Rights Of GI Girard

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court weighed the constitutional rights of GI William S. Girard today to determine whether they overbalance the government's decision to let him be tried in a Japanese court.

The court, which listened to nearly four hours of legal debate yesterday, gave no indication how soon it will hand down its decision.

In winding up arguments seeking to block Girard's trial by Japan, Earl J. Carroll, one of his lawyers, said that if such a trial were permitted "it probably would destroy the morale of our soldiers—forever."

Solicitor General J. Lee Rankin contended the executive branch of the government acted within permissible discretion in deciding to yield to Japan's demand that Girard be tried in its courts for the death of a Japanese woman.

Rankin said that among other factors considered was evidence that Girard enticed the woman to come forward and pick up scrap metal on a firing range. Rankin noted, however, that Girard has denied he induced the woman to approach him.

The woman, Mrs. Naka Sakai, was fatally wounded last Jan. 30. Girard is accused of shooting her in the back with an empty cartridge casing fired from a grenade launcher. He was assigned at the time to guard a machine gun and some field jackets.

Carroll asked the court: "How can you turn over to Japan a soldier who carries out his duty?"

To do this, he said, might result in a situation where a State Department diplomat abroad, endangered by an advancing rioter, might turn to a Marine and say, "Shoot him as he comes over the threshold."

"The Marine," said Carroll, "might very well hand his gun to the diplomat and say, 'Here, shoot him yourself. I don't want to be tried.'"

Knowland has asked his colleagues to be ready for the long sessions to start possibly tomorrow but more likely later in the week.

Senator Sees Long Debate On Civil Rights

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) told President Eisenhower today the current Senate debate on civil rights legislation may continue four to eight weeks and possibly longer.

Knowland, the Senate Republican leader, told newsmen Eisenhower is "fully informed regarding the implications" of such lengthy debate with respect to possibility of congressional action at this session on other administration bills.

Knowland said there certainly will be Senate action on some other legislation after conclusion of the civil rights debate. But he added it also is likely that some administration measures may have to be put on the shelf in Congress until next year.

Mr. Alfrey was born at Nelson and spent his entire life there. He was a member of the Baptist Church.

Surviving are: his wife, Mrs. Minnie Alfrey; a son, Willis E. Alfrey; three grandchildren; four sisters, Mrs. Marion Potter, Mrs. Bess Carlton, Nelson, Mrs. Maude Williams, Marshall, Mrs. Andrew Smith, Sedalia; and a brother, J. B. Alfrey, Marshall.

Richard S. (Bill) Taylor Rites

Funeral services for Richard S. (Bill) Taylor, Tipton, who died at St. Joseph's Hospital, Boonville, Sunday, were held at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Richards' Funeral Home in Tipton, the Rev. George Igo, pastor of the First Christian Church there, officiating.

US Court Reverses Contempt Conviction Of Cornell Professor

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U. S. Court of Appeals has reversed the contempt of Congress conviction of Marcus Singer, Cornell university zoology professor who refused to name onetime Communist associates.

The court, in throwing out Singer's conviction and ordering his acquittal, said its action was based on the Supreme Court's decision June 28 in the Watkins case.

The Court of Appeals took the action June 28 but its brief order was not made available until today after attorneys had been notified.

In throwing out Singer's conviction, the court set aside its own judgment of April 18, 1957, which had affirmed a lower court's verdict.

Singer was convicted by U. S. Dist. Judge Burnita S. Matthews who fined him $100 and gave him a suspended jail sentence of three months.

Sees Extended Good Cattle, Hog Prices

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department said today this year's improved price level of beef cattle and hogs will continue another year or more if consumer income stays high.

Cattle prices particularly will hold up well and possibly rise further, while pig crop prospects seem to assure sustained hog prices through the summer of '58.

This rather optimistic outlook was given in the department's monthly report on the livestock and meat situation.

Sustaining the price improvement is fact that beef cattle numbers are on a periodic decline. Likewise, pig productions was reduced this year in the wake of disastrously low prices of 1955 and much of 1956.

Small changes in hog production have been indicated by producer surveys. It appears, the report said, that producers are "exercising caution in their management, in an effort to avoid the over-expansion that led to severe price declines in 1955."

"Unusual seasonal trends (in prices) can be expected" the department said. "Prices of hogs likely will decline as much as usual this fall and more than last year. They may be as high or higher than a year ago until late in 1957, but possibly a little lower thereafter. Prices of fed cattle will likely trend seasonally higher this fall. Supplies for that season may barely exceed last fall as movements of replacements feeders to feed lots this spring were little if any larger than last spring."

"Prices of grass cattle, on the other hand, are expected to drift seasonally lower. Prices of lambs also will probably decline somewhat more, yet may stay about as high or a little higher than last summer and fall."

The department said consumer demand is rising more for beef than pork.

Los Angeles Police Officials File Suit For TV Interview

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Chief William H. Parker and Capt. James Hamilton of the Los Angeles police department are suing Mickey Cohen, the American Broadcasting Co. and others for $3,000,200 damages.

The officials' separate suits, filed yesterday, resulted from a nationwide television interview May 19 in which former gambler Cohen commented about Parker and Hamilton, head of the department's intelligence squad.

Parker's suit called the statements "slandorous, libelous, false and defamatory." Hamilton's complaint was almost identical.

Others named as defendants include the programs master of ceremonies, Mike Wallace; the sponsor, Philip Morris, Inc.; N. W. Ayer & Sons, Inc., advertising firm, and 10 John Does.

Neither the ABC network nor Wallace was available in New York for comment.

ABC aired an apology in a later Wallace program. Attorneys for Parker and Hamilton said it was inadequate.

Meeting In Switzerland

Dr. Geiger Tells of Trip To International Convention

Dr. L. S. Geiger, who was a delegate to the Rotary International convention in Lucerne, Switzerland, May 19 to 23, was the speaker at the noon meeting of Rotary Club Monday at Bothwell Hotel at which time he gave a report on the convention.

Dr. Geiger stated it was officially announced at the convention that there were now more than 445,000 members in 9,400 Rotary Clubs located in 101 countries throughout the world. More than 9,900 members and wives were present from 78 countries and it was indeed an international gathering, he said.

One of the highlights of the convention, Dr. Geiger told the group, was the report that 119 fellowship students were attending various colleges and universities in some country other than their own during the 1956-57 school year, their expenses being paid from the Rotary Foundation Fund. In addition to these, more than 400 exchange students were sponsored during the year by individual Rotary Clubs. Six of these Rotary fellowship students were present at the convention and enthusiastically told of their experiences.

The Rotary Clubs of Switzerland presented two pageants for the entertainment of the visiting Rotarians. In one of these, the speaker said, more than 1,400 Swiss people of all ages, together with their horses, cows and sheep, appeared on the stage in various scenes which depicted the work and play of the people during the four seasons of the year. # County Agent Makes Report On Insects

By Merle Vaughan
Pettis County Agent

Leafhoppers

Virtually every alfalfa field is showing yellowing resulting from feeding by leafhoppers. Much of the hay is being cut, but this will not prevent the net cutting from being damaged. Fields that are severely yellowed should be cut, and after new growth is two to four inches tall, the field should be sprayed. Keep in mind that spraying is primarily done to prevent yellowing, not cure it.

Use Malathion at 1½ pints of 57 per cent malathion emulsifiable concentrate or methoxychlor at two quarts of 25 per cent methoxychlor emulsifiable concentrate, per acre.

European Corn Borer

We are now past the point of treating for the first brood of European corn borer. Such a high percentage of borers have already gone into the stalks, it is not practical to invest in control this late.

Soybeans

We are finding several different insects working on soybeans, but fortunately instances of severe damage are scattered, and so far, no great acreage is involved. If injury is noticed on soybeans, however, you might check for one of the following insects. Bean leaf beetles, the same insect that is so common on garden beans, is severely ragging the leaves in some fields. In general, soybeans can stand a lot of this sort of damage before being materially hurt. Injury should be quite severe before spraying will be justified.

In fields where soybeans were seeded following lespedeza, the grape colaspis, a pale brown or tan leaf beetle about one sixth inch long, is also feeding on the bean leaves. Damage is quite similar to that caused by the bean leaf beetle, and should be so considered when deciding whether or not to spray.

Where beans were seeded on spring plowed clover or alfalfa land the clover root curculio, a small, grayish to brown beetle about one sixth inch long and having a short blunt snout, is showing up. Damage begins with the beetles feeding on the leaves, and eventually, the entire plant will be killed. Damage from these insects is considerably more serious than that of the other two insects mentioned, and controls should be used immediately. Spray with four ounces of dieldrin, or 1½ pounds of toaphene, per acre.

Chinch Bugs

Chinch bugs are still a problem in some areas. Infestations are mostly local, with only a few farms in a locality being affected. If spraying of corn or grain sorghum becomes necessary, be sure to use nozzle drops, or extensions, which makes it possible to spray low on the sides of the plants. The nozzles over the rows can be plugged if drops are used. Dieldrin, at eight ounces per acre, will give control.

Webworms

Be on the watch for webworms in corn. One of the preferred food plants of this insect is the common pig weed or careless weed. When a field with a lot of these weeds is cultivated, or sprayed with a herbicide, the worms move over on to the corn. If the worms are nearly grown, severe damage will be done to the corn in only a few days.

These insects are yellowish green in color, measure about an inch in length when full grown, and have six black spots on each body segment. Damage will occur first on the lower leaves of the plants. For control, use 1½ to two pounds of toxaphene per acre, depending upon the height of the corn.

Simple Services For Mrs. Coolidge, According to Wish

NORTHAMPTON, Mass. (AP)—Just as she desired it in her final wish, funeral services tomorrow for Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, widow of the former President, will be quiet and simple.

The former First Lady died early yesterday morning at the age of 78. The funeral will be held at 2 p. m. in Edwards Congregational Church, where services for the late President were held Jan. 7, 1933.

The body will be cremated Thursday and the ashes will be sent to the hamlet of Plymouth, Vt., for burial Friday beside the graves of her husband and their son Calvin, who died at the age of 16 just 33 years ago while Coolidge was in the White House.

The only surviving son, John, now 51, said there would be no callers and requested that no flowers be sent. Friends were urged instead to make donations, if they wish, to the Heart Fund.

Mrs. Coolidge died of a heart condition and kidney ailment.

Japanese Students Protest Expansion Of US Air Force Base

TOKYO (AP)—Three hundred left-led Japanese students and labor unionists demonstrated outside the U.S. Embassy today in protest against enlargement of the U.S. Air Force's Tachikawa base near Tokyo.

There were no disturbances. More than 300 Japanese police kept traffic moving and the demonstrators, after handing a protest to embassy officials, moved on to Tokyo police headquarters to make another protest.

The U.S. officials told the five-member delegation admitted to the embassy that the Japanese government, not the United States, is acquiring the land to enlarge the base's main runway so it can handle latest type jet aircraft. The base eventually is to be turned over to the Japanese.

Owners of the property being taken over contend that the government is paying them a pittance.

Says the US Has Strayed In Girard Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Bow (R-Ohio) said today that in the Girard case, the government has strayed from the basic American principle "that a man is innocent until proven guilty."

Bow criticized a statement by U.S. Solicitor General J. Lee Rankin before the Supreme Court yesterday that "entitlement" by Army Specialist 3.C. William S. Girard had an important bearing on the government's decision to turn over Girard for trial in Japanese courts.

Rankin, noting specifically that Girard has denied such action, said there is evidence the soldier enticed a woman scrap collector to come closer before she was shot in the back. Girard, accused of shooting her, contends it was an accident.

Rep. Vorys (R-Ohio) said the government had purposely withheld details of the fatal shooting so as not to jeopardize Girard's case before either Japanese or American courts.

Vorys said the mention of enticement was made to show "a reasonable ground for (U.S.) executive discretion" in the administration's agreement to a Japanese request to try Girard.

Bow and Vorys disagree over a resolution by Bow aimed at ending foreign trials of American soldiers.

The House Foreign Affairs Committee has approved the resolution, and the House Rules Committee tentatively arranged hearings on it today.

The administration says passage of the measure could force a withdrawal of U.S. troops from all over the world.

Rep. Joseph W. Martin (Mass.), the House Republican leader, said in a separate interview that there has been "no decision" yet on whether to muster a strong party stand against the resolution in the House.

Congressional sentiment for Bow's bill has mounted in the furor over the Girard case.

Bow said that "if Girard is guilty, he should be tried by an American court, not a Japanese court."

Referring to the charge that Girard enticed the Japanese woman to pick up scrap, a charge said to be contained in a sealed affidavit presented by the government to the court, Bow said: "It is rather a strange procedure when we begin to try cases in the United States with secret documents."

"There has been no trial. There should be an open and complete trial to determine the innocence or guilt of any person, whether it is Girard or anybody else."

"I intend to leave tomorrow for the Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minn., for an examination and checkup. During my absence from the state the Hon. Edward V. Long, lieutenant governor, will be acting governor."

Outlook to August

The weather maps below give the U.S. Weather Bureau's long-range forecast from now until August. It is not a specific forecast in the usual sense, but an ESTIMATE of the average temperatures and precipitation for the period.

Most of the nation can expect fair days ahead. Moderate rainfall is expected over the greatest portion. An area extending from the northeast to the Carolinas and inland to Tennessee may have light rain. The same goes for much of California. Heavy downpours may hit the northwest, Florida and lower Texas.

Above-normal temperatures from now until August will be experienced by the lower half and northeastern section of the nation. The northwestern portion will have below-normal readings. A band running from the upper Great Lakes to the West Coast will have near-normal temperatures. Only the lower portion of California is expected to be hit with really soaring temperatures.

To Plead Parole For Fourth Time For Leopold

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Attorneys for Nathan Leopold, imprisoned since 1924 for the thrill slaying of a teen-age Chicago boy, prepared today to plead for his parole. It will be his fourth bid for parole since 1953.

The 52-year-old Leopold, serving an 85-year sentence in Stateville Prison in Joliet, will not appear before the board.

The record of the savage murder of Bobby Franks, 14, by Leopold and his now dead co-league Richard Loeb, both brilliant university students and sons of wealthy families, will be unveiled once again in Leopold's latest effort to win freedom from prison. Loeb was slain in prison by another inmate nearly 20 years ago.

Leopold's participation in the wartime malaria experiments won him eligibility for parole, as former Gov. Adlai Stevenson cut his 99-year sentence to 85 years. His first parole plea in 1953 was denied, as were requests for re-hearings in 1955 and last December.

Elmer Gertz, one of Leopold's attorneys, said a former University of Chicago classmate of the convict has offered him a job as head of a manufacturing firm's foreign department. Gertz said Leopold also had several other job offers.

Accidental Drowning Given to O'Sullivan

WARRENTON, Mo. (AP)—A verdict of accidental drowning in the death of W. S. O'Sullivan, owner of the ill-fated Katie Jane Nursing Home here, was returned yesterday by a coroner's jury.

O'Sullivan, 42, drowned while riding a motor sled on a lake five miles west of here.

The lake was on property jointly-owned by the O'Sullivan family and used as a recreation area.

On Feb. 17, 72 elderly persons died in a fast-moving fire at the nursing home O'Sullivan operated. County Coroner F. H. Knigge said the coroner's jury ruled out a heart attack as the cause of O'Sullivan's death. At first, it was thought such an attack occurred.

O'Sullivan drowned six feet from shore. He was alone in the motor-powered sled at the time and details of the accident are lacking, Knigge reported.

Surviving are his widow and three children.

Suburbs Flight Puts An End To Baptist Church

CLEVELAND (AP)—John D. Rockefeller Sr. was right. The flight to the suburbs has put an end to the Euclid Avenue Baptist Church.

Delegates to the Cleveland Baptist Assn., meeting in the church's chapel, voted last night 168-4 to empower trustees to sell or lease the 30-year-old structure, which has an auditorium capable of seating 2,300. It probably will be torn down so the land can be leased as a parking lot.

When the church was built at a cost of 1½ million dollars, the Rockefellers, senior and junior, contributed $250,000. But the senior Rockefeller advised against building downtown, at Euclid and East 18th. He had been superintendent of its Sunday school when the church was located across the street, and he pointed out the population was migrating to the suburbs.

By 1934 an insurance company foreclosed a mortgage, and the Rockefellers contributed $245,000 so the Baptist association could take ownership. They stipulated they should not be approached again for help in this problem.

A year ago the individual church organization was dissolved and only part of the structure has been used for offices of the association and the Cleveland Church Federation.

A Baptist official said the building had become a white elephant, as it would cost too much to remodel it.

Everybody Talks About It...

There's nothing monotonous about Central Missouri weather. As seasons come and go, this area runs the gamut of diversified precipitation and temperature, wind and calm, parched air and humid.

Vagaries of the weather are often distressing when comfortable moon and starlit evenings are followed by sweltering, humid days like Monday.

As though remorseful for creating the dust and sweat during the Little League game at Liberty Park when the Sedalia Icers ran their legs off scoring 8 runs over the Lions, the weather manufacturer brought in Tuesday morning's agreeable cool wave.

Call it corny or not, people can't resist talking about the weather. If you don't say something about it repeatedly in daily conversation with friends, you are considered queer. It has actually become a social must despite the cliches. If you feel uncomfortably sensitive about what to say, here are a few "original" observations picked up at random:

"Hot enough for you?"

"Well, of course, it's not the heat, it's the humidity, you know."

"Look like summer's really here."

"We could use some rain. Hold down the dust, you know."

"It's good for ducks, but that's about all."

"Helps the crops."

"Yeah, helps the crops."

"I can't ever remember it being so hot"

"Oh, used to be a lot hotter years ago."

"Yeah?"

"Yeah."

"I don't think these H-Bomb explosions help it any."

"They're not telling all they know about how it's changed the weather."

"They say if you drink something hot, it cools you off."

"That's what they say"

"Hot enough for you?"

That's not a complete glossary, but good for a starter. Central Missouri weather is so diversified it provides a means of breaking conversational monotony, like so:

"Hot enough for you?"

"Cold enough for you?"

"Wasn't it chilly this morning?"

"Boy, wasn't that a big blow last night?"

"What a rain!"

"The snow must be two feet deep."

"That hail almost went through the roof."

"Wasn't that a beautiful moon."

"All the stars were gleaming."

"How do you like this sunshine?"

"Let's go down to the lake."

These are the cliches which just sparkle with acute observations on the weather. Every day is different. Yes, indeed, there's no monotony about Central Missouri weather.

FBI Bill Affects Judicial Procedure

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Sincere, scholarly Joe O'Mahoney, the Democratic senator from Wyoming, argued at length on the Senate floor recently that it was dangerous to rush legislation through Congress, that the Senate must never bypass its own Senate rule 14 requiring legislation to go to an appropriate committee. He was talking about the civil rights bill, recently passed by the House.

Last week, however, the same Senator O'Mahoney rushed the so-called "FBI bill" through the Senate Judiciary Committee in record time, only to have other colleagues prove the truth of what he had argued before—that haste makes for sloppy legislation.

For the FBI bill, jammed through the Judiciary committees of both houses allegedly to protect FBI files, is now found to have alarming loop holes which would set back judicial procedure in the United States for many years.

Sens. Sam Ervin of North Carolina and John McClellan of Arkansas, both former judges, seemed a little concerned over the haste when the bill came before them in the Judiciary Committee. Now southern legal experts point out that, if the civil rights bill passes, the south will benefit most from the right to examine pertinent portions of FBI files. For it will be the FBI which will be sent south to investigate violations of civil rights.

Senator Ervin has spent weeks arguing for the right of jury trial. But either in jury trials or in trials before a judge, defense lawyers now have the right under Supreme Court rulings to examine earlier statements made to the FBI in order to impeach the testimony of witnesses. The FBI bill would curtail that right.

Yet Sens. James Eastland of Mississippi and Olin Johnston of South Carolina, both members of the Judiciary Committee and vigorous opponents of civil rights, were among those who wanted to okay the FBI bill in record time.

Brownell Stammers

When Attorney General Brownell testified before the Senate Judiciary Subcommittee, Senator O'Mahoney asked: "Are there any further questions?"

"Yes," replied Aubrey Gasque, counsel of the subcommittee. "I should like to ask the attorney general whether it is true that this bill merely clarified the Jencks case, and does not change other judicial proceedings."

Mr. Brownell did not answer yes, as expected. He hemmed and hawed, finally replied:

"The bill speaks for itself."

"Well, I can answer that question," volunteered Chairman O'Mahoney. "That's exactly what the bill does."

The bill had been handed O'Mahoney by Brownell, handsome, popular assistant to Brownell, and O'Mahoney apparently hadn't studied it as carefully as he does most bills. The scholarly senator from Wyoming spent weeks defending the Supreme Court when Roosevelt wanted to override it; but this time he spent only a few hours studying an FBI bill to override it.

Legal experts now find the FBI bill would override not merely the Supreme Court but years of judicial procedure worked out by the courts and the American Bar Association to protect an individual from an oppressive government. Here are some of the things it would override and the people who should be worried about it:

The National Association of Manufacturers: The FBI bill would permit a field day to the government in antitrust prosecutions. General Motors, Du Pont, any other corporation could be prosecuted without giving them the right to see the files of a competing firm on which the prosecution is based.

Of Interest to Taxpayers—In tax cases against you, the government could seize your files and financial statements and you would have no access to them.

Of Interest to Lawyers—The FBI bill wipes out rule 16 of the federal rules of criminal judicial procedure, namely the right of discovery. This has nothing to do with the Jencks case.

To get a clearer picture of what the FBI does, it's necessary to go back to the Mooney case where Tom Mooney, a California labor leader, was convicted in connection with the bombing of the San Francisco preparedness parade in 1916. Twenty-three years later, Mooney was released from jail, because the government of California had withheld evidence in the trial.

In other words, the state had evidence which indicated Mooney was not guilty, but Mooney's defense attorneys had no way of getting that evidence, because they could not see the records of the state or the state's police files. Since then the "right of discovery" under rule 16 has been established by the courts with the approval of Congress. Under this rule, any citizen being prosecuted for a crime has a right to see the documents the government has taken by judicial process.

The new FBI bill now wipes this out. This was probably why Attorney General Brownell hemmed and hawed and did not answer the question: "Does this bill only clarify the Jencks case?"

Note—In the Jencks case, Justice Brennan, writing 7 to 1 for the Supreme Court, ruled that when a government witness—Harvey Matusow—gave information voluntarily, then his statements and reports also must be made available to the defense. This goes further than rule 16 which applies only to evidence which is not voluntary but obtained by seizure or judicial process. In the Jencks case, Matusow later testified that he had lied about Clifford Jencks of the Mine, Mill, and Smelter Workers. The Supreme Court decreed that the Justice Department should have given Jencks' lawyers copies of Matusow's various FBI reports to let them see whether Matusow had been consistent and whether he was the kind of unreliable person he later turned out to be.

Scout Early Resource

An Atomic Energy Commission scientist proposed recently the establishment of a scouting system to seek out exceptional children and uncover "our most precious natural resource."

The plan, proposed by Dr. George G. Manov, A.E.C. technical assistant, suggested that state and national educational systems and foundations with Federal help, if necessary, set up centers in each state. These would identify early in life and on a continuing basis those persons who are capable of profiting from advanced and accelerated training. He argued that professional sports and the entertainment industry spend more than $5,000,000 a year hunting for talent and he estimates that would be the cost of the search for Early Brains which he advocates.

Why should it be so costly? The precocious child is obvious in any group. Why not recommend him to the school principal for special observation? If he continues to show promise there are plenty of scholarships available. Many industries are willing to educate young people who show scientific or other special skills and aptitudes.

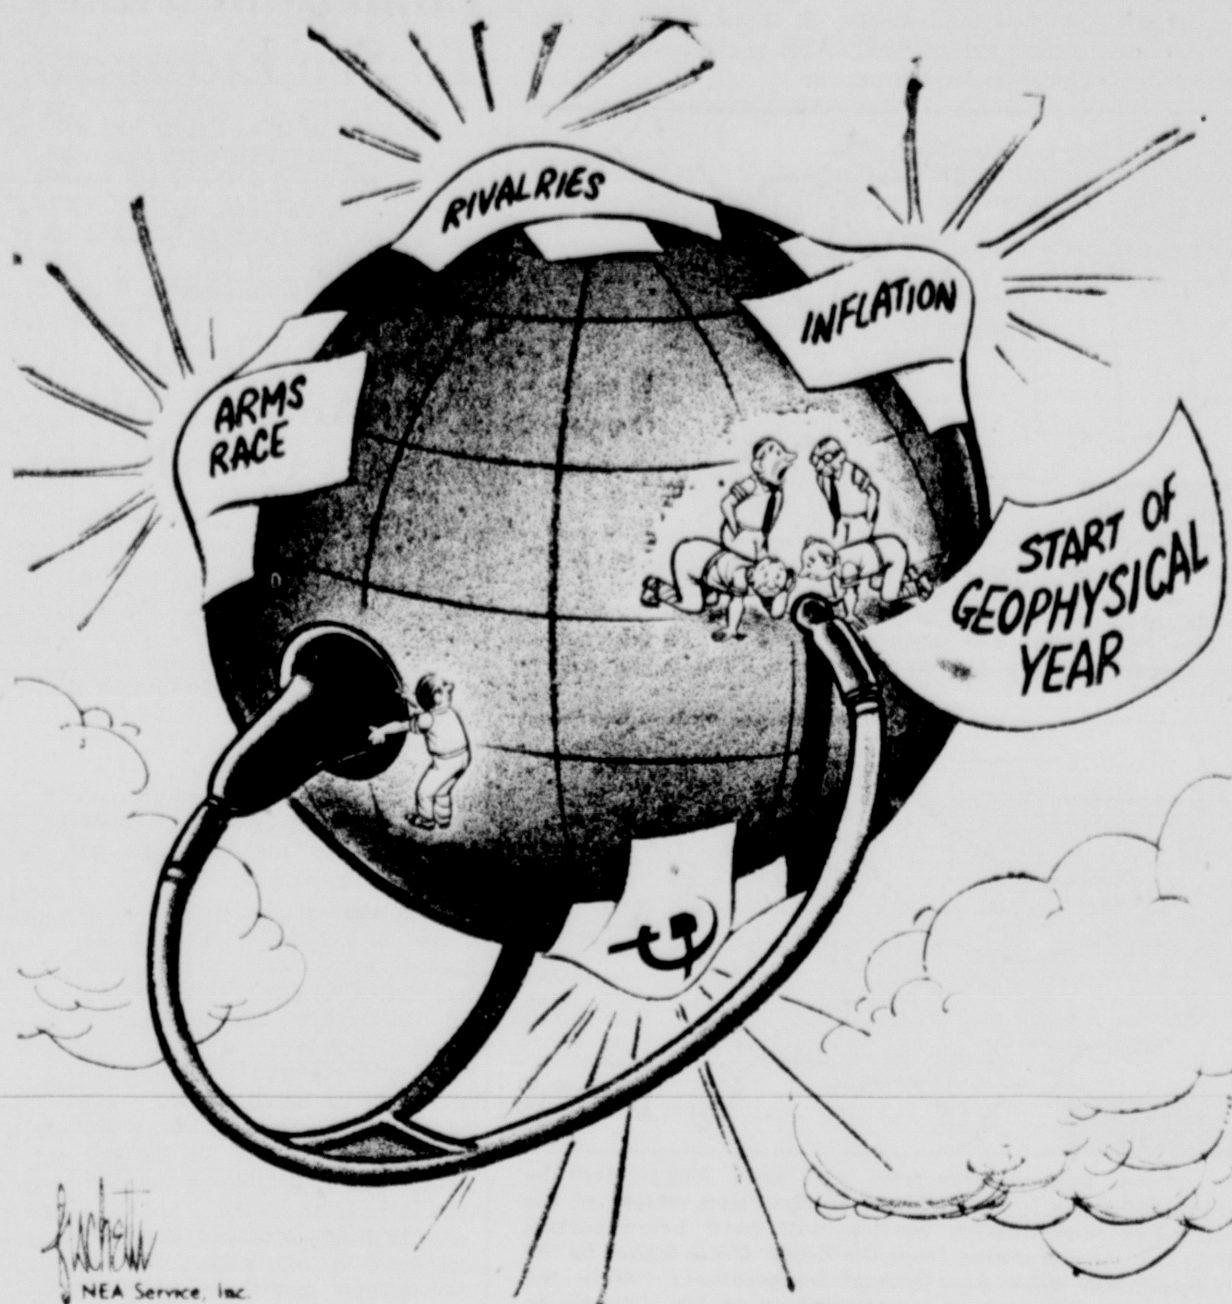

There are plenty existing avenues to discover the mentally gifted children if they pass the word along. The A.E.C. should be able to encourage talent through present media.

Some Disagreement Over Word 'Cunning'

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — The civil rights bill is loaded—in the sense that it goes far beyond just protecting the voting rights of Negroes—but it hardly comes under the head of "cunning."

Sen. Russell, Georgia Democrat and captain of the Senate Southerners now trying to prevent consideration of the bill, called it the "most cunningly devised and contrived piece of legislation I have ever seen."

This, knowingly or not, was a slap at the Justice Department. Atty. Gen. Brownell, at the Senate Judiciary Committee's open hearings last February, said the bill was put together by his Justice Department's lawyers.

Brownell frankly said this bill—backed by the Eisenhower administration—would go beyond protection of voting rights. For example, he said, he could step in under it to back up the Supreme Court's ban on public school segregation.

He didn't go into the many kinds of civil rights violations covered by this bill. He wasn't asked. Here are some other possibilities: segregation on buses, interference with witnesses or jurors where civil rights are concerned. There are plenty.

This is how he'd act: He'd ask a federal judge to order a stop to the violations. Disobedience would bring trial for contempt by the judge himself—not a jury trial—and jail if convicted.

In his indignation against this bill, Russell suggested that it be suggested that it be submitted to national vote. Only a handful of the people most affected by it—Southern Negroes—are eligible to vote.

What particularly irritated Russell was that the bill doesn't everywhere spell out precisely what it would do but amends other laws which are merely referred to in the bill by number.

This is not, however, unusual in legislation. In such cases it is assumed that the senators, before they vote, will take the trouble to look up the amended laws to find out what they're voting on.

The bill falls into four sections but only the last two are under fire so far. No. 1 would create a six-man commission to study civil rights problems; No. 2 would create a new civil rights division in the Justice Department.

The fight has been over Nos. 3 and 4.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.

Wild life in America is protected by laws and public pressure. Before this protection was established some species of our American animals became almost extinct. The egret and the buffalo were being killed by selfish, thoughtless people at a rate so high they became curiosities.

Since these birds and animals are being protected, their population has increased by the hundreds. They can now be seen living in full freedom in many unexpected places.

Some birds—and beasts and some people, need protection not only from ravages of hunters but also from themselves. We should not expect all of this protection to come from law. Most of it ought to come from self-control and from our own desire to be considerate of others.

No. 3 would amend on old 19th century law—covering a very broad field of civil rights violations—under which a person whose rights were violated could sue for damages or ask a judge for an injunction to stop the violation.

Under the amending bill the attorney general could step in, instead of leaving it up to the injured individual to act, and ask the court for an injunction.

No. 4 would authorize the attorney general to step in if—specifically—some individual's voting rights were violated.

Under Nos. 3 and 4 he'd ask for a court injunction. Anyone disobeying the court order could be tried for contempt by the judge himself—without jury trial—and be sent to jail.

The theory is that this is the fastest way to get action against civil rights violations: to prevent their happening or stop them while they are happening. By the same reasoning a jury trial is slow and would come after a violation.

There is nothing new in trial for contempt of court by a judge himself, without a jury. Brownell cited at least 28 laws under which that can be done in other fields.

Southerners insist there should be a jury trial. But, although during the weeks of the filibuster they will offer amendment upon amendment to soften this bill, their main purpose all the while, Russell has said, will be to kill the bill.

Russell argues on another point too: not mentioned in the bill is an old law giving the President authority to call out troops to back up a court order against violations covered by that old 19th century law which this bill would amend.

If this bill is passed, amending the 19th century law, the old law providing for the calling out of troops would apply to the newly amended law. But Brownell replied sharply at the hearings when the subject of calling out troops was mentioned. He said the very suggestion that the President might call out troops in civil rights cases was disrespectful to President Eisenhower.

Southerners say they are not worried Eisenhower would call out the troops. They argue someone coming after—armed with the power this bill provides—might do so.

HIGHLIGHTS AND SIDELIGHTS FROM YOUR STATE CAPITOL

By Jack L. Simon

Jefferson City Correspondent

Remodeled Governor's Office To Cost State $24,000

Remodeling and refurbishing the governor's office in the state capitol is costing the state approximately $24,000.

According to Ralph McSweeney, state director of public buildings, the work consisted of cleaning and waxing woodwork, varnishing the doors, painting and adding new wall to wall carpeting in four rooms, installation of new fixtures in the governor's private bathroom, and installing new air conditioners.

The governor's private office is now painted a light cream with a soft gray carpet. The new drapes and matching cornices are about the same shade as the walls but have a blue and gold pattern woven into the fabric. In addition, the governor has a new green leather swivel chair, a gift, he said, from his friends.

McSweeney said the remodeling work in the governor's office was the first undertaken in a number of years. The work was badly needed, he said, to afford surroundings in keeping with the dignity of the office.

Preliminary Survey Set For Mark Twain Memorial

The state park board has hired a Kansas City firm of architects, Swanson, Terney and Brey, to prepare preliminary plans for the Mark Twain memorial shrine at the Mark Twain state park near Perry.

Joe Jaeger, Jr., state director of parks, said the preliminary plans would cost $4,000. He said completion of the shrine will run about $200,000. The sum was included in the defunct omnibus bill which failed to pass the recent legislative session. Presumably, the net legislature will be asked to appropriate for the shrine.

Forestry Camp Authority Sought by Training School

W. F. Sears, state director of training schools, reports that he may seek special legislative permission to set up a forestry camp at the Lake of the Ozarks for inmates of the Booneville training school.

The attorney general's office ruled recently that under present law, outside activities such as the proposed forestry camp, are not authorized.

Sears had hoped to place 50 specially selected Booneville inmates at a forestry camp on property owned by the state park board at Lake Ozark. He said quarters for the boys would be provided in a group camp and the boys would plant trees, build roads, dig ditches and do other maintenance work for the park area.

Sears said he hoped to get legislative authority for the camp and have it in operation by next year. The camp, he said, would help relieve overcrowding at the Booneville training school and also provide vocational opportunities for the inmates.

Short Snorts: Austin Hill, chief clerk of the House of Representatives, is working as an oil inspector in between legislative sessions. Three employees of the state division of resources and development are reported about to get the sack in an economy wave in effect because of appropriations. The state park board has raised the salary of Joe Jaeger, director of parks, from $7,500 to $9,000 a year. The state department of liquor control reports that it issued 10,383

Role of Atom Bomb

Plans For Total War Did Not Vision Lesser Threats

By Joseph A. Dear
Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — On the frontier Mr. Colt's product was called the Great Equalizer.

With a forty-five in hand, even a runt was formidable. Of course, as anyone who has faced a TV set knows, life among the equals was rather hectic until the forty-five was brought under control.

According to foremost authorities, any ambitious Banana Republic may be stocking atomic arms in its arsenal fifteen years from now. When and if that happens, atomic weapons will be equalizers in about the same sense the forty-five was in the land of sage brush.

It takes very little imagination to visualize the chaos there might be if every penny-ante dictator had an A-bomb to brandish. That's one reason for the effort to bring atomic weapons under control now.

Our effort to achieve a measure of control has been spluttering along fitfully since 1946. There is no cause for optimism. At this time it is virtually impossible to divine what Ike's Administration hopes to negotiate in the area of disarmament. Even more discouraging, though, is the patent fact that we failed to work out an agreement during our period of greatest power.

Until 1949, we enjoyed an atomic monopoly. Yet we were unable to negotiate any meaningful arms agreement. Moreover, the Communists scored great victories precisely during this period. In retrospect it's obvious that something must have been wrong with our approach.

We have always regarded the A-bomb as a blessing for us. But it may have been a curse. For we fell prey to certain delusions because of it. And we wholeheartedly subscribed to certain fallacies.

Most of us, for example, have at one time or another accepted the theory that only our nuclear power prevented an onslaught by Russia during the several years immediately after the end of World War II. But is that so? Russia suffered positively crushing losses in the war; so crushing that it is doubtful she would have attempted outright attack even if the A-bomb had been a fizzle.

The Russians were willing to nibble at the periphery. And they did, with great success. Possibly we would have faced up to this threat, with all its implications, if we had not convinced ourselves that all was well because we had the A-bomb.

The simple fact is that we were ready for complete peace or total war. We were not ready to cope with situations which were neither. And therefore the Russians were able to consolidate their hold on Eastern Europe, assist their allies in China to victory, and begin building their own atomic stockpile. This came about primarily, in the words of Henry Kissinger, "because we added the atomic bomb to our arsenal without integrating its implications into our thinking."

The service chiefs settled on the same old division of functions: target of the Army was the enemy army; target of the Navy was the enemy navy; target of the Air Force was the enemy air force.

Russia Wants Longer Tests Suspension

LONDON (AP) — Brushing aside the U.S. proposal for a 10-month ban on H-bomb tests, Russia insisted yesterday they be suspended for at least two years and that an East-West formula be worked out completely renouncing nuclear weapons.

Russia's Valerian Zorin rejected key points of the latest U.S. proposals in a 90-minute speech before the five-nation U.N. Disarmament subcommittee.

Taken aback by the stiffening in the Soviet attitude, Western delegates canceled today's session so they could study Zorin's remarks.

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd termed the speech disappointing while Jules Moch of France said it "seemed propagandist."

One U.S. official said the speech would disappoint anyone looking for concessions from the Kremlin. But he contended that at least Zorin took no backward step.

Moscow radio had warned earlier this week that anyone who expected concessions as a result of the shakeup in the Soviet hierarchy would be disappointed.

On the positive side, Zorin again said his government was convinced a partial disarmament treaty could be worked out. Apparently he meant it could if the West accepted the Soviet proposals.

The Soviet delegate rejected the U.S. proposal that scientists be assigned to map out how a suspension of nuclear tests might be enforced.

"To bring experts together now is a waste of time," he said.

He again demanded that nuclear tests be suspended at once for two or three years. Russia, he added, would consider Western demands that such a suspension be linked with a cutoff of nuclear weapon production. But he renewed demands—which the West has rejected—that such an agreement contain a renunciation of use of nuclear weapons.

After the tests have been stopped, he said, a limited disarmament pact should call for (A) a complete ban on production of nuclear arms, (B) arrangements for destroying all stocks of nuclear arms and (C) a big power pledge renouncing use of nuclear weapons.

Moss Wants More Open Knowledge On Missile Work

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Moss (D-Calif.), head of a House Government Information subcommittee, today called "unrealistic" a Pentagon directive restricting information on the Air Force guided missile program.

Moss told a reporter the Air Force has a good case in trying to get the directive changed because, he said, it "appears to do more harm to the Air Force guided missile program" than it contributes to security.

Brig. Gen. Arno H. Luehman, director of the Air Force Office on Information Services, told the subcommittee yesterday that he believed progress on the missile program had reached the point "where maybe we ought to tell a little more about it."

Luehman said his office was concerned over what he called "erroneous impressions" that the Air Force is making little progress in its missile program, and was considering asking Air Force Secretary James H. Douglas to take the matter up with Secretary of Defense Wilson.

Luehman said the Air Force now operates under a memorandum from the office of Murray Snyder, assistant secretary of defense for public affairs, which permits the Air Force to say only whether a test firing has occurred, whether there was an accident, and if so, whether there were casualties.

Moss said the subcommittee planned to call Snyder in later for questioning.

A Switch For House

Soil Bank Program May Get Extension With Compromise

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House, which voted in May to kill the major part of the Eisenhower farm soil bank program after this year, appeared ready today to back down and grant it one more year of life.

The year's extension was contained in a Senate-House compromise on a $3,600,000,000 agriculture appropriation bill for the fiscal year that started July 1.

In addition to money for the current year, the compromise measure would provide authority for a 500 million dollar appropriation for next year's acreage reserve program. Under that program farmers are paid for taking land out of production of basic crops that are in surplus.

Rep. Harrison (D-Va.), who led the successful House fight to end the payments after his year, indicated he may not press the battle anew. "I still don't like it," he added.

The compromise bill would limit sign-ups for acreage reserve contracts to crops normally planted by July 1 next year, and would halt all payments after Sept. 15, 1958.

Harrison told a reporter the cut-off date should prevent use of soil bank funds in next year's congressional elections.

"Use of this money in the elections last year was disgraceful," he said, echoing charges made during last year's campaign that payments to farmers were hurried into strategic areas just before the election.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson told the House Agriculture Committee in January there was "absolutely no truth" to such allegations. He said he had tried to administer the program "non-estly and fairly."

Agriculture Department officials have noted repeatedly that the program was late in starting in 1956 because the law to establish it was not passed until late in the session. Actual payments did not start until September, and continued through October.

Harrison noted the situation will be different next year, saying: "Under this bill, if they're going to use the money for election purposes next year, they're going to have to spend it before the middle of September."

Senate and House conferees said they expected the compromise to be passed by the House without too much trouble. Democratic and

Asks Return Of Accused US Couple

NEW YORK (AP)—U.S. Atty. Paul W. Williams says the French government has been asked to return to this country an American couple accused of spying for the Soviet Union.

George Zlatovski, 47, and his wife Jane, 45, were indicted here yesterday by a federal grand jury. The Zlatovskis have been living in a dingy flat in Paris since 1955. Williams said he requested extradition of the couple "even though the offense may not be deemed extraditable."

Russian-born Zlatovski is a former U.S. Army intelligence lieutenant, his wife is a native of San Francisco and a onetime employee of the Office of Strategic Services.

The government linked the Zlatovskis to an international spy ring headed by Jack Soble. He is currently awaiting sentence here as a confessed leader in the spy plot.

The Zlatovskis were pictured in the indictment as operatives for the spy ring as early as 1945, collecting information and turning over data on American installations abroad.

The indictment alleged that Soble paid the couple from money furnished by Soviet sources. It also claimed for the first time that the late Lavrenty P. Beria had a direct hand in sending Soble to this country in 1940 to "execute assignments in the Soviet intelligence service."

Beria was a powerful figure in the Russian secret police and was minister of internal affairs and first deputy premier of Russia until his 1953 execution.

The five-count indictment against the Zlatovskis carries a maximum penalty of death. In Paris, Mrs. Zlatovski told a reporter: "I can't tell you anything. You will have to speak to my lawyer."

Zlatovski was alleged to have furnished Soble data on Iron Curtain refugees in 1949 and 1950 and to have been assigned to obtain information on "sexual and drinking habits" of Americans working abroad for the government.

Mrs. Zlatovski, it was charged, made five trips to Paris in 1948 with data for the Russians on U.S. Economic Cooperation Administration personnel and American intelligence agents.

Reports 10 Marines Are Under Arrest

SASEBO, Japan (AP)—The U.S. Navy today said 10 Marines at this American naval base are under arrest and may be court-martialed on charges of mistreating prisoners in the brig.

A Navy spokesman said the 10 enlisted men were arrested after prisoners—presumably American sailors—complained they had been slapped and "roughed up."

The Navy refused to reveal the names of those being held or details of the alleged mistreatment.

Others are strategically located at taxi stands for passengers entering the station.

Youth Takes 65-Year-Old Woman as Bride

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—"It was just love at first sight," explained Thomas Henderson, 21, after his marriage yesterday to the former Mrs. Florence Norris, 65.

"I remember when I first saw her," the grinning bridegroom said at a wedding dinner in a friend's house. "It was about two or three weeks ago when I rode my bicycle by this house."

"Last week I asked her to marry me."

Mrs. Norris' reaction to their first meeting was somewhat different. "I remember when he came by," she said. "He kept staring at me and I was wishing he'd quit and go on."

"Now I wouldn't take anything for him. I sure was tired of living alone."

The couple paid for their $5.50 marriage license with money saved from selling beans at the city market.

"I guess we'll just go on selling beans for a living," said the bride, who has eight children by a previous marriage.

Asked if he was planning on a family, Thomas replied: "Yes, a boy and a girl." His wife grinned but declined to comment.

Air Line Pilot Says He Had to Swerve To Avoid Jet Plane

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A United Air Lines pilot reported he had to swerve his DC6 airliner violently yesterday to avoid a jet fighter over Oxnard, Calif.

Eight passengers were injured slightly when pilot C. H. Thompson threw his big airliner into a climbing turn. Others were unhurt but shaken.

Thompson, of Los Altos, Calif., said he was flying from Los Angeles to San Francisco at 11,000 feet when he saw the military plane bank and head directly toward the airliner. It screamed by underneath after Thompson swerved.

YOUR EYES AND VISUAL FUNCTIONS

Thoughtful persons find ample cause to wonder about the contradictory statements they read or hear regarding the necessity for using glasses as opposed to the various methods used in getting along without them.

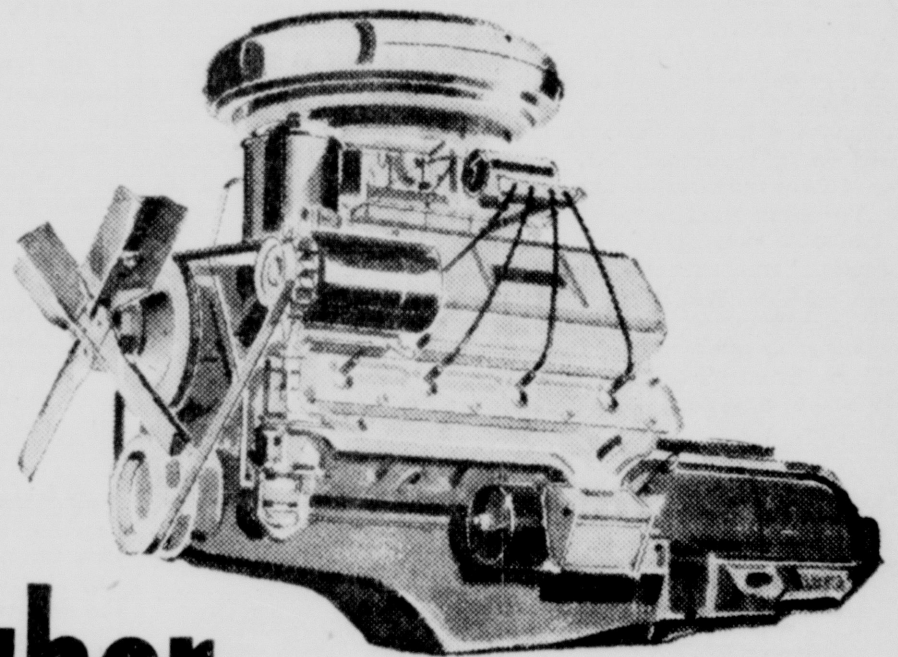

The Missouri Optometric Association offers the following facts for your consideration:

Young people generally have good vision without glasses. Only fifteen to twenty percent of children and young adults require glasses to see better at distance or near. On the other hand, a much larger percentage of children and young adults find that their vision is more comfortable and more efficient with lenses carefully fitted for their individual needs. More children and young people use glasses today for greater achievement in this near-point world in which we work and play than for improvement of visual acuity.

Almost without exception when you hear or read of a person over fifty years of age being able to read well without glasses, discarding glasses after taking eye exercises or developing a miraculous improvement of vision thru faith or other means, you may be sure there is a natural cause for such unusual ability.

While most people over fifty years of age require lenses to see well at distance, near or both, there are some who have good vision at both near and far without the use of glasses. Most of these older people who get along without glasses have never taken eye exercises or resorted to any method of faith healing.

Persons over fifty years of age who do without glasses would be well advised to have a careful examination by a competent vision specialist to make sure they are not building up trouble for the years ahead.

Low Retirement Age Is Called 'Nonsense' By Hazel Palmer

DETROIT (AP)—The idea of a lower retirement age for women was criticized Saturday as "nonsense" by a leader of the nation's 28 million working women.

Hazel Palmer of Sedalia, Mo., president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, said "congressional action last year in lowering the retirement age to 62 for women works a hardship on all women who work."

Women earn a lower income than men during their working years, Miss Palmer said, and face a longer old age than men because of their increased longevity.

Miss Palmer, an attorney, spoke at the opening of the five-day annual meeting of the federation's board, which represents 171,000 working women.

The board will make recommendations for a legislative program to be submitted to the federation's 1958 biennial convention in Seattle.

Proposals to be considered would call for a uniform retirement age for men and women, reduction of trade barriers and legislation making equal pay for equal work mandatory in every state.

Says Issue Of Officer Still Alive

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Some controversies, like old soldiers, never die. That's especially true when the controversy is about an old soldier named Alfred Dreyfus.

He was the French officer, sent to Devil's Island late in the 19th century, whose case was taken up as a crusade by French intellectuals who accused high government and army officials of anti-Semitism. Dreyfus, a Jew, was vindicated after a long battle.

You wouldn't think that such a long-ago affair would still be alive, but Jose Ferrer claims that it is. He has just finished directing and starring in "I Accuse," the Dreyfus story.

"Apparently, Dreyfus is still a big issue in France," commented Ferrer. "Nobody took any direct action against us, but you could feel an undercurrent of resentment."

Producer Sam Zimbalist got the cold shoulder on requests for filming locations in France, Ferrer reported. The major part of the film was made in England, but certain locations were desired in Paris.

"We waited and waited for permission to come through," the actor said. "Finally, we couldn't wait any longer. We had to shoot the exteriors in Brussels."

He added that one French official was quoted as saying a film about Dreyfus was not in the interests of national security.

"I got violent reactions from French people I know," Ferrer said. "One man asked me what I was doing and I told him I was making a picture about Dreyfus. 'I didn't know you were anti-French,' he said."

"I really teed off on him. I told him: A. The picture tells the truth about Dreyfus; B. Other nations know the truth; C. That France herself awarded Dreyfus the Legion of Honor and he served with distinction in World War I as a lieutenant colonel."

"They make a great two over the Hiss and Rosenberg cases in this country. Why shouldn't Dreyfus case be discussed?"

The script, Ferrer said, has had a good reaction from women.

"It appeals to their sense of fair play," he commented, "and that is a side that women seldom display."

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actress Gail Russell, 32, has been arraigned on a felony drunk driving charge and sued for $75,000 damages as a result of driving her new car through a cafe window July 4.

Miss Russell's preliminary hearing was set for July 19 on the drunk driving charge. She was released on $1,000 bail. She told newsmen she was "very sorry it happened."

Actor Is Divorced For Irresponsibility

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Actor Broderick Crawford has been divorced on his wife's testimony that he was "completely irresponsible" as a husband.

Mrs. Katherine Crawford, 39, who charged mental cruelty, told Superior Judge Edward R. Brand yesterday: "Many times when parties were planned for mutual friends he would not show up or even telephone. The same was true when events were planned for the children."

The 50-year-old Oscar winner did not contest the divorce. Mrs. Crawford received custody of their two sons, Kim, 9, and Kelly, 5. A property settlement gives her the $75,000 family home in Brentwood and approximately a fourth of Crawford's estimated gross annual earnings of $200,000.

The couple married in 1940.

CONSTIPATED?

New laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks without gag, bloat or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken, constipating contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H stimulate it to action; to a normal urge to purge.

And, of all laxatives, only COLONALIN, the amazing new laxative discovery possesses COLONALIN's great moisturizing capacity, plus COLONALIN's stretch-stimulating bulk. So effective it relieves even chronic constipation overnight! COLONALIN is yet so smooth, so gentle it has proved safe even for women in critical stages of pregnancy.

Superior to old style bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONALIN neither gags, bloats nor gripe; won't interfere with absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other reactions.

It's a physiological fact: Exercise tones your body! And COLONALIN exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Get COLONALIN, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! Only 98c for the 60 tablet package, brings positive relief at less than 2c per tablet.

PARTY LINE—The man in the moon will be a member of a 500,000-mile "party line" pretty soon. The "line" takes in Ft. Monmouth, N.J., Urbana-Champaign, Ill.—and the moon. Scientists at the University of Illinois and the Army Signal Corps will transmit signals from the Evans Signal Laboratory near Ft. Monmouth and bounce them off the moon for reception at the university. The 2 1/2-second journey will end at the dish-shaped aluminum mesh reflector (insert), which is 28 feet in diameter. The experiments will be conducted in the daytime, as the moon is in the sky for many days. The experiments may pave the way for sending radio and television signals to half the earth at one time by bouncing them off the moon so the return impulses can be received in the Eastern hemisphere. The first "moon-bouncing" experiments were made in 1946.

Cool Air Spread Annuls the Heat In Midcontinent

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A northerly flow of cool, dry air spread across broad areas in the midcontinent today, ending a spell of hot and humid weather.

No immediate relief was indicated from the warm and humid weather in the East and South-east.

Biggest temperature drops during the night were in the Great Lakes region and Mississippi Valley, with readings in the 50s and 60s compared to the humid 70s and 80s the previous night. The southern boundary of the cool air extended from the lower Great Lakes region to the mid-Mississippi Valley.

Widespread thunderstorms were reported along the southern fringes of the cool air. A thunderstorm at Indianapolis was marked by gusty winds of 63 m.p.h. The Weather Bureau reported 2.35 inches of rain in a six-hour period in Pittsburgh. Many low-lying sections were flooded.

Earlier yesterday, violent storms struck areas in Michigan, Wisconsin and Illinois. Torrential rains drenched Detroit, with up to 6 inches of rain in six hours. More than 100,000 automobiles were stranded in what police termed the Motor City's worst traffic jam.

Accuses Jordanians Of Shooting Plane

JERUSALEM (AP)—An Israeli army spokesman today accused Jordanians of machine-gunning an Israeli plane spraying crops south of the Sea of Galilee.

The spokesman said one wing of the plane was hit but the pilot was not hurt and landed safely. He added that the plane was fired on yesterday near Geshur settlement.

GOP's Ready For Sessions On Civil Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republicans girded today for around-the-clock sessions as Southerners stiffened their resistance to bringing the House-passed civil rights bill before the Senate.

Republican Leader Knowland of California asked his GOP colleagues to stand by for the beginning—possibly tomorrow but more likely later in the week—of 24-hour efforts to wear out Dixie opponents talking against the bill.

With Knowland directing the campaign to get the measure before the Senate for an eventual vote, GOP members were asked to sign up for periods when they will be on hand to sit out the Southern talk.

In a typical assignment, Sen. Allott (R-Colo.) said he had been asked to be on deck from 10 until 12 o'clock, each morning and night. Sen. Morton (R-Ky.) has said earlier he has day and night hours on a different shift.

Sen. Mundt (R-S.D.), who is unenthusiastic about the House bill in its present form, said he had declined to accept any assignment outside the Senate's regular meeting hours.

Sen. Russell (D-Ga.), commander of the Southern opposition forces, said he is ready to cope with round-the-clock sessions during the last half of the week with Southerners' speeches explaining the bill.

Russell declined to say whether these will continue until Knowland and other supporters decide to try to force the issue with a debate limitation vote. Knowland has indicated he will not attempt that until next week.

The affirmative votes of 64 senators are required to limit debate. Because Knowland might be able to summon that many among Republicans and Northern Democrats who are supporting the bill, Southerners are reluctant to make a test on the preliminary issue.

Apparently they feel they would be in better position to maintain a filibuster against actual voting on the measure if they avoid losing on a test on the issue of whether the Senate shall even consider it.

One Southern strategist said that once the bill actually comes before the Senate, he believes a debate limitation can be defeated by four votes unless the measure is amended to provide for jury trials of those accused of violating civil rights injunctions.

Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) proposed such an amendment yesterday.

day, Russell said in an interview that while it was not entirely satisfactory, he would accept it.

Guidance Center

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A 12-year-old boy was found sitting patiently in the waiting room of the police department detective bureau.

When asked what he wanted, the youngster replied: "I'm running away from home and need a map to plan my route."

The lad was turned over to juvenile authorities.

Die Flidermaus

Scientists Make Study Of Chicken's Heart Beat

By HENRY LESENE
NEA Special Correspondent
ATHENS, Ga.—(NEA)—Here at the University of Georgia this summer, the scientists and researchers are doing electrocardiograph of an—well, of all things, chickens.

In this respect, it will be recalled that a noted physician, Dr. Paul Dudley White, President Eisenhower's consulting heart specialist, has been trying off and on to get an electrocardiograph of an adult gray whale.

Knowledge of how fast a whale's heart beats and other data turned up by an electrocardiograph, the medical scientists believe, could be most helpful in the study and research pertaining to this vital organ in human beings.

The big scale research project here involving poultry isn't nearly so difficult or complex a task, of course, as getting the pulse beat of an elusive and suspicious gray whale via a harpoon.

In fact, it's done on chickens with virtually the same equipment a physician uses in a hospital. It's the same kind of machine, actually, except that the electrodes—the attachments which are placed on the human patient—are supplanted by needles from hypodermic syringes.

What's behind such a research project? Dr. Till Houston, one of the university poultry scientists on the project, explains it like this:

The chicken has a body temperature of 107 degrees. In summer, when the weather often gets hotter than 90 degrees, the bird can't keep itself cool. Its body temperature, in fact, gets a degree or two above the abnormally high 107. In effect, the bird runs what amounts to a fever.

Does the fever affect the heart-beat? And does the heart-beat affect egg laying or growth? If so, how much, or to what extent? Can a chicken be bred that will produce better in the summer? These are some of the types of questions which may be answered eventually by such research.

Such things are of vast import to the poultry industry, which has grown tremendously since World War II. Georgia, incidentally, has become the nation's largest broiler state. Research into poultry diseases and nutrition is a vast operation extending to many fronts. And the poultry industry keeps pretty close on the heels of laboratory findings.

It might surprise you to know, for instance, that diet-conscious as Americans are usually depicted as being, they actually run a very poor second to poultry when it comes to eating healthful, balanced meals. And, according to scientists in the animal industry, what's true of poultry in this respect is true also of farm animals such as cattle, sheep and pigs.

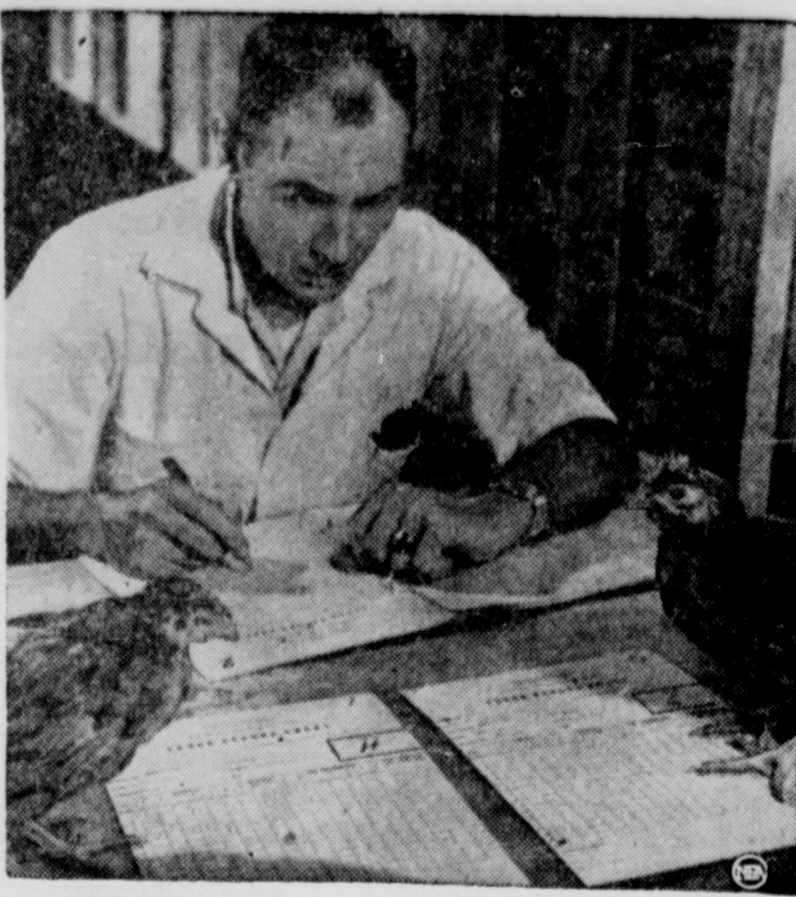

This fact caused one of the top scientists in the field, Dr. Sterling Brackett, to observe recently at the annual American Feed Manufacturers Association meeting: "It's a good thing the human animal is a resistant sort of beast. He has to be, really—in order to survive the abuse to which he puts himself."

Why do farm animals now eat so much better—nutritionally speaking—than humans? There are, Dr. Brackett notes, several reasons. Number one is, of course, that they have little choice of menus. Their feed formulas have come to be compounded with the exactitude of a physician's prescription. Some turkey diets, indeed, are compounded from more than 30 nutrients.

It's simply that science has determined the precise amounts of proteins, vitamins and other ingredients required to make the animals grow most efficiently.

This wouldn't, Dr. Brackett concedes, appeal too much to genus homo who likes to indulge whim and fancy for tasty delicacies.

And in recent years, of course,

KEEPING TRACK of the pulse of poultry, this researcher checks the records of birds from two separate pens.

has come the growing practice of adding small amounts of a broad spectrum antibiotic such as aureomycin chlortetracycline to poultry and livestock rations. "Apparently there's no such thing as a completely healthy farm animal," Dr. Brackett explains, "tended."

Poles Free

NEW YORK — A prominent protestant clergyman says there is "far more religious freedom" at present in Poland than there is in Spain and Portugal.

The Rev. Dr. Gaither P. Warfield, imprisoned by both the Russians and Germans during World War II in Poland where he was superintendent of the Methodist church, made his comment after a recent 10-day visit to Poland.

Now general secretary of Methodist overseas relief, he said he found there was "freedom of religious worship" there, and a "ready willingness" on the part of Poles to freely voice opinions to strangers.
